LAW ENFORCEMENT

LAW ENFORCEMENT (LE)

Triton has a staff of law enforcement and security experts who are equipped to handle the needs of our public sector law enforcement agencies and private sector security clients. Our consultants are senior level experts in their respective fields and cover all aspects of public sector policing and private sector security. Triton offers an independent approach that is non-threatening, collaborative, and solutions oriented.

As an example of our approach, depending upon the project scope, Triton consultants work with client agencies to gather data and conduct extensive research into specific programmatic area(s), incidents, or entire organizations. After analyzing practices, policies, and outcomes, our experts will review applicable laws, regulations, industry standards, and comparable agencies to provide a comprehensive report detailing current practices as well as considerations or recommendations for organizational improvement.

STAFFING STUDIES

Agency workloads are complicated to measure and require comprehensive analyses of priorities (community, governing body, and organizational), workflow, diverse sets of data and many other factors, depending upon the agency and environment. Our experts will conduct a comprehensive review of the work being performed, place the work in an appropriate context given priorities, demand, etc., and compare the workload with industry standards and comparable agencies where appropriate.

LEADERSHIP/MANAGEMENT STUDIES

A variety of factors can lead to the need for a study of the management or leadership of an organization. Reviews are conducted routinely every few years to ensure proper succession planning, employee development, and compliance with industry standards. Reviews can also be initiated based on an incident or series of incidents so the governing body or community can get an independent examination to ensure proper organizational leadership.

ALTERNATE SERVICE DELIVERY STUDIES

The policing and security industry have been looking at alternate service delivery models through technology, public/private partnerships, and other means for years. With recent community priorities being voiced across the country, many police agencies are searching for new ways to prioritize and/or deliver service. Significant changes to service delivery can be complex, costly, and fraught with unintended consequences if not researched and executed properly. Triton's experts can help identify hidden costs, gather public opinion, and identify possible ripple effects or unintended consequences. We also can provide expert guidance on execution of changes where needed.

TRAGIC INCIDENT ANALYSIS

Unfortunately, many companies and policing agencies experience tragedy in a variety of forms. Often, in the aftermath of these tragedies, an independent analysis is helpful to identify organizational areas of strength and areas that may need strengthening to appropriately recover and move an agency forward. Triton's consultants are experienced executive level experts who will work sensitively through the tragedy and associated issues while ensuring a transparent process to help a community and organization recover and move forward.

CONSOLIDATION/ REGIONALIZATION PROJECTS

In both normal and difficult financial times, agencies often look for ways to regionalize services. These services, such as SWAT teams, K-9 units, and airborne policing services, can be very specialized and expensive.. They also can be routine services, such as dispatching or jail services. Whatever the reason, embarking on a cost benefit analysis can be formidable. Triton experts have vast experience in many areas of regionalization and consolidation and will guide the agency through the process smoothly and professionally.

ACCOUNTABILITY REVIEWS

Accountability is a critical component of public trust. There are often questions from the public that involve accountability of our employees, yet regulations keep agencies from releasing detailed information on investigations, discipline, and many other personnel matters. Triton experts can conduct an independent and comprehensive review of complaints, investigations, discipline, and other measures of accountability. In addition to analyzing data, reports, and investigations, Triton's consultants can review and score investigations and reports for quality, independence, appropriate discipline, etc. The comprehensive data would be anonymized in a report to comply with federal, state, and local regulations.

ORGANIZATIONAL ASSESSMENTS

Often, an agency or municipality will have a need for an organizational review. This may arise from a change in leadership, an incident, or a political issue. An organizational assessment will review key areas of operation, apply appropriate regulations and industry standards, as well as conduct comparisons with similar agencies to develop observations and recommendations. These areas often differ from agency to agency given the reason or need for the review; however, most assessments include areas such as personnel, policy, supervision, discipline, etc.

SECURITY THREAT ASSESSMENTS

Triton's team of experts in law enforcement and security can help any organization examine its security threats and provide recommendations for risk mitigation. Triton's consultants have decades of experience working with industry regulations and standards and will provide a realistic look at threats and along with reasonable recommendations and solutions to mitigate an organization's risks.
